Jacob Gooden (#15)

Guard, 6'4, Fr

Key Stats

- 21.5% Offensive Usage
  Responsible for 72-334 Plays

- 97th PPP Percentile as
  PNR Ball Handler (16 Plays)

- Drives Right: 8 Atts (2-7)
  Drives Left: 8 Atts (4-7)

- As PNR Ball Handler:
  Drew Fouls on 5 of 15 plays (1 TO)

Player Profile

Gooden is elite in the pick and roll as the primary ball handler. He is comfortable going either way and is really looking to get to the rim or for some sort of floater / close range shot. Western Connecticut only allowed Gooden to get one FGA off in the PNR, and won the game by 1 point in the end.

Possible Defensive Strategy: Blitzing Gooden in the PNR, making him pass and recovering is a key to not letting him get comfortable. When he gets comfortable that's when it opens up his 3, shooting 4-7 on the season.

Aidan Roy (#2)

Guard, 6'2, Jr

Key Stats

- 13.3% 3PT FG% (2/15) on Catch & Shoot (5th Percentile)

- 45.5% Defensive 3PT FG% (5/11) for spot-ups (16 possessions)

- 25.0% FG% (3/12) as P&R Ball Handler (17 possessions) (17th Percentile)

- 7 out of 9 transition plays involved him being the primary ball handler

Player Profile

Adian is an inefficient offensive player as he is shooting 29.3% (12/41) from the field and 13.0% (3/23) from 3 but he is a very good free throw shooter as he is shooting 100.00% (14/14) from the line. He is a good rebounder as he is 3rd on the team in RPG with 5.5 and is the teams leading assist man with 4.75 APG. When guarding Aidan force him to keep the ball in his hands and play his passing lanes as he is a lot worse at shooting than he is at passing the ball. On his 17 P&R's this season 9 of them have been high P&R's, 6 of them have been from the right side, and 2 of them have been from the left side.

Joey Skoric (#14)

Forward/Center, 6'10, Sr

Key Stats

- 2.5 BLKS / G

- 3.0 OREB / G

- 2.5 TO / G

- 60% 3P% (2-5)

Player Profile

Joey does one thing really well and its offensive rebounding. Almost all came from guys not knowing where he is when a shot goes up and often times a team paid for it by allowing Skoric to use his lanky frame to get easy rebounds. Skoric does not make good decisions when he catches the ball in an area he cannot either take a spot up 3 or easy layup. Force Gooden to pass Skoric the ball in the PNR and make Skoric find the open man in the short roll.

Charlie Fantom (#5)

Guard, 6'5, Jr

Key Stats

- 44.4% 3PT FG% (8/18) on Spot-Ups (21 possessions) (78th Percentile)
- 52.4% Defensive FG% (11/21) (9th Percentile)
- 6.0 RPG, 1.5 ORPG, 4.5 DRPG
- 64.3% Defensive FG% (9/14) (15 possessions) (3rd Percentile)

Player Profile

Charlie is a spot up shooter that will let it go as soon as he gets the ball as 17 of his 21 Spot-Ups this season have been Catch and Shoot. So far this season he is shooting 44.0% (11/25) from 3 (93rd percentile). If you get a hand up on him in the Catch & Shoot it does help a lot as he is shooting 33.3% (4/12) from 3 on Guarded Jump Shots and 50.0% (6/12) on Unguarded Jump Shots in the Catch & Shoot. On defense he tends to get scrambled when closing out as his defensive FG% on Spot Ups is 64.3% (9/14, 15 plays)

Will Wertz (#20)

Guard, 6'3, Fr

Key Stats

- 26.3% Def FG% (5/19) on Spot-Ups (91th Percentile)
- 1-7 on S.U 3P's (14%)

Player Profile

Will is a 3&D guy for this Skimore team. In Skidmore's 2-3, he plays on down low on the wing and is more of a help position to prevent dump offs to the dunker spot from the paint. Although his low defensive FG% on S.U's can be backed up by the fact that he does a good job covering a lot of area and being able to close out with control. With that being said, against their 2-3, be ready to let it fly on the wing as he priortizes preventing dump downs to the dunker.

Hakeem Daphnis (#4)

Guard, 6'3, Jr

Key Stats

- 10 PPG Last Season
- 6 STL's (4 games)
- Led Team in 3P% Last Season (34.1%, 44/85)

Player Profile

Daphnis is a highly active defender and tends to pick off a lot of passes for steals. All of which came when they were running their man-to-man defense. Although he's only taken 8 3P's this season, his high 3P% from last season shows he is capable of getting getting hot from 3. So don't lose him in the half court.

Charlie Weisberg (#11)

Guard, 6'2, Sr

Key Stats

- 6-22 on 3P's Last Season (22.2%)
- 4-20 on 3P's This Season (20%)
- 21 Jump Shots (18 C&S 3P's) 3 Shots at Rim

Player Profile

Charlie is a pure catch and shoot guy who isn't the most efficient at making them. Now he does average 5 3PA's a game, so he shoots it confidently. Telling me he has the ability to get hit a few in a row. Ending a position with a 3P from Charlie seems like a good way to end a possession, but make sure to get a contest. He's 3-16 on contested 3P's.

Jack LaGarde (#32)

Forward, 6'8, Jr

Key Stats

- 1.5 OREB / Game
- 5/13 from Shots Around the Rim 3 of which were Lobs

Player Profile

LaGarde comes in for Skoric to play for his non-minutes. Solid offensive rebounder averaging 1.5 OREB / Game. Gooden loves drawing help and giving LaGarde a lob at the basket. Otherwise LaGarde doesn't have great touch. Shooting 5/13 from shots around the rim.
